Born and raised in Sofia, I graduated from Sofia University “Sv. Kliment Ohridski” with a major in Indian Studies and minors in Bulgarian and English Languages and Literature. Before I moved to live with my family in San Diego in 2000, I used to work with AVO-3 School of English. My youngest students were 5 years old; my oldest ones were reluctant to give away their age. I enjoy teaching because of the intellectual contact with people it provides, the opportunities it presents for creativity, and the satisfaction I take in sharing my knowledge and experience. It is a special pleasure for me to work with the children of the Bulgarian community in San Diego, who, being immersed in two cultures, are especially open-minded and full of original ideas. Thank you for this opportunity!
